Dear Henri:

A necessarily brief note while I have a moment between scenes. First, let me thank you so much for your very kind letter and may I say that I enjoyed immensely being a member of the discussion and was highly flattered to be included in such an impressive panel.

Unfortunately as much as Mrs. Lemmon and I would enjoy being with you on the 10th, we have to spend the weekend in San Francisco with relatives in a sort of "family reunion", which I am sure will be a complete bore, but which we, nevertheless, must attend.

I wish we could juggle things around but unfortunately we can't so I am afraid we'll have to miss it. However, one thing we certainly won't have to miss is your album which I know we will truly enjoy and if you have a stereo copy that would be doubly great. Our home address is 1143 Tower Road, Beverly Hills.

Again, our many, many thanks for your generosity, our regrets that we can't join you on the 10th, and our hopes that we shall have a chance to meet again shortly.

Most sincerely,

Jack Lemmon
